CURATING SPACES. ART. OBJECTS.

A WAY OF LIVING.

IT STARTED AT HOME

A house in Mérida. Years of travel.
A collection of art, objects and memories.
An instinct for finding the unexpected.
And an unusual ability to make seemingly unrelated pieces belong together.

Friends began asking where things came from.
Then they began asking for help with their own spaces.

Styling Editors was born from that conversation.

What began as a personal passion can now become a service for people who want something more than decoration.

Something personal. Something unexpected. Something with soul.

OUR PHILOSOPHY

We believe that good taste is not about how much you spend.

It is about what you choose.

A remarkable space can contain an important work of art next to something found in a flea market.

A contemporary design piece can live alongside an antique.

A souvenir from a journey can become the most meaningful object in a room.

Luxury is not necessarily a price tag.

Luxury can be having a space that feels completely, unmistakably yours.

STYLING EDITORS

Curating spaces. Art. Objects. A way of living.

THE IDEA

There are people who know how to buy beautiful things.
And then there are people who know how to see them.

Styling Editors was born from the exceptional eye and shared passion of Peter Gallet and Raúl Escobedo – for art, design, travel, culture, hospitality and the beauty of well-chosen things.

For years, they have travelled the world collecting pieces,
discovering artists, visiting galleries,
antique markets, museums and design destinations.

Their home in Mérida became the natural expression of that journey:
a highly personal space where art, furniture and objects from very different places and price points come together with extraordinary harmony.

It is the kind of house that makes you stop and think:
"I want my space to feel like this."
That is where Styling Editors begins.

IT IS NOT ABOUT BUYING MORE.

It is about seeing differently,
choosing better and creating a space that feels unmistakably yours.
